Daisy's Answer to Ripping.

Editor Press:—

It is evidently certain that somebody is feeling pretty sore over our protest in an recent issue of the PRESS, in regard to the schools of this place.

We have always been willing since childhood to take our medicine and I suppose the dose on this occasion will not cause us any indisposition, considering where it comes from.

God pity us if there are any more such verdant scribes as the Ripper (Fair Play) in our immediate vicinity.

Look at the article of last week, placing the empatic word (He), or using it all through what some persons call gifted phraseology.

Does the writer know whether "Daisy" is a man or women before putting too much gramatical emphasis on the pronoun he, vainly straining at a gnat while endeavoring to swallow a camel.

Mr. Editor, my mother always taught me to be truthful in my dealings and in my own defense and I will state here that I have the usual thumb and four fingers on my right hand. If the entertainments conducted by our schools here can be counted on our right hand during the term, we will acknowledge the error and call it a case of mistaken identity.

This writer, or writers. has taken the responsibility to speak for the whole community, the school directors, teachers, and the people, a contract you had better let out for as a free citizen of this Commonwealth, we allow no man or woman to put their hand over our mouth and tell us to mind our own business, when our protest was in behalf of the people.

"Fair Play" or "Foul Play" or what ever you mny style yourself, go ask A. F. Walker or John May, two school directors elected by the voice of the people and not by appointment of the Board, why they resigned and you will be a wiser person and better adapted to attend to your own business after knowing.

If our protest has caused us to loose friends here we simply say we don't want such friends, and would rather seek the rattlesnake's den for friendship than such, for they will fully warn you of hostility and not bite before their rattle is heard.

And now "Fair Play," or somebody who has nothing else to do, as you call them, go away back and sit down and study your A, B, C's, with those large scholars who received the alphabet on the bottoms of plates, presented by the teacher, as a reward of merit, at the close of the present term, with advise to study them. Don't say we lie or for us to attend to our own business for we are ready to back up our assertions and you won't have to run the streets or flood the mails to find out who "Daisy" is.

DAISY.

The PRESS hopes, for the benefit of the schools, that "Fair Play" and "Daisy" will now let this matter slumber.—EDITOR.

A DANGEROUS HABIT.

Gladstone's Physician Gives Warning Against a Growing American Custom.

The growing habit amongest Americans of taking a mint tablet or some other so called digestive after eating a hearty meal, is something that Sir Andrew Clarke, Mr. Gladstone's physician, advises strongly against, says: "It is absolutely dangerous to take into the stomach remedies which are popularly supposed to aid in the digestion of food."

There is nothing known to the science of medicine that can perform the work of the human stomach. Drugs do not and cannot digest the food. They simply decompose it. What can be more revolting or disgusting than the thought of taking something into the stomach that is going to turn the good food you have eaten into a mass of corruption.

The only way to overcome indigestion and its evil effects is to remove all irritation. Congestion and inflammation from the stomach, liver and intestines, and Mi-o-na is the only agent known that will do this.

When a Mi-o-na tablet is taken before each meal every trace of irritation and inflammation is removed from the stomach and digestive system, and those organs will extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound healthy body. If you suffer with headaches, indigestion, flatulency, spots before the eyes, vertigo, or dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, or any stomach trouble, get a fifty cent box of Mi-o-na from L. Taggart one of our most reliable druggist, whose faith in the remedy is shown by his offer to return the money if Mi-o-no does not give complete satisfaction.

Mr. Chas. L. Butler Declines.

Edtior Press:—

After due deliberation I have concluded to withdraw my name as a candidate for the nomination of Sheriff. My personal afiairs are so situated that it would be a sacrifice on my part to aceept the nomination. Thanking my many friends for their ardent support in my behalf, I remain,

Yours Respectfully,
C. L. BUTLER,
Emporium, Pa., April 10th, 1905.

For Rent.

The store room, so many years occupied by R. Seger & Co., will be rented to responsible party.

Stockholders Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Emporium Powder Co., held at the company's office last Tuesday evening, all officers and directors were re-elected for the enguing year.

Father Dies.

The VanWert boys, Geo., William and Stephen, received on Monday morning the sad news of their father's death, at Ten Mile River, Sullivan county, N. Y. They left on Buffalo Flyer Monday afternoon, to be present at the funeral.

Removed to Buffalo Hospital.

Jas. R. Fetter, who recently returned from a Philadelphia Hospital where his left foot was amputated, has been in a precarious condition for several weeks as a result of the long standing diseased foot, was taken last Sunday to General Hospital at Buffalo for treatment. E. J. Smith accompanied him to Buffalo. His friends here hope he may be benefitted. Mr. Fetter, Mr. Smith informs the PRESS stood the trip remarkably well. At hour of going to press no news has been received.

Humane Society.

Miss J. W. Driscoll, representing the Commonwealth Humane Society, is putting forth her best efforts to establish a society of this nature in town. Miss Driscoll is very anxious to locate all cases wherein dumb animals have been ill treated This society is one in which all good citizens should be interested and should give this lady their heartiest indorsement.

Good Joke on Jesse Skillman.

Our friend Jess Skillman is the victim of one of his own jokes. Meeting a gentleman, a stranger, and telling him of a chase he had in the woods last December, after a four pronged deer and how he succeeded in downing his game, came to his senses yesterday when he again met the same gentleman, who proved to be Jos. Berrier, State Game Protector. Jess saw he was in for it and planked down the fine and costs—$103. Moral—don't kill game out of season—its expensive.

Not on the Osler List.

Nearly two years ago, our townswoman, Mrs. E. M Newton, was invested with the power of attorney, to manage and settle a New York city estate. By care and attention to details she enhanced the value of the property ten thousand dollars within a few months. She has now sold it, and divided the proceeds of the sale to the satisfaction of those concerned.

When complimented upon her business methods, and asked where she obtained her financial training, she answered: "In a Pennsylvania village, among the cleverest people in the world."

Having demonstrated her ability to conquer the haughty janitor, and conciliate the complaining tenant, besides running the guantlet of auditors without having a figure in her books disputed, she says she feels qualified to venture into "frenzied finance", ar any other easy old thing. An extract from a recent letter of her's reads:" I can furnish first class city references to show that I have become an adept in tar and gravel roofing, can build waterproof walls on a patent not yet applied for, can act as a whole purchasing agency from sanitary air-vacuums to cast iron contracts, and I know the exact amount of energy it requires to lift a $54,000 mortgage.

Literature? No, not now, I must get out of range of telephones and the wireless, before by nerves are steady enough to send copy to magiciaus who have an exasperating habit of making "pi" of the most unpromising material.

Speaking of the wireless reminds me that a connection, whom you have frequently met at Newton Terrace," entertained Marconi and his bride this week.

Everybody was charmed with her, but Jimmy (the furnace man) said to his mistress in confidence: 'I feel sorry for Mr. Marconi, Madam.'

'Why so?' was the amazed question.

'Because he has married an Irishwomen, and they all drink.' Jimmy is an Italian, and a race antagonism furnishes a key to the remark."

In the Parade.

As this is the time of the year when everyone does more or less repairing, painting or paper hanging, I will cheerfully furnish estimates on all contract painting. Have this season's (1905) wall paper sample books (one of the best manufactured. bar none) containing over 2,000 of the latest shades and patterns of samples rangeing from two cents to $1.50 per roll. Will give the best of satisfaction in all work entrusted to me, Call on or drop postal.

J. W. CLARKE, I. O. O. F. Block.

Brush Up.

F. H. Pearsall, the popular Painter and Paper Decorator desires to inform his many patrons that he is ready for an active season's work, having in his employ several good experienced workmen. After many years of experience in decorating and painting the bublic can rest assured they will receive first-class attention. Call on or drop me a postal, and examine my sample books. 6 6t.

The Observer.

The time has not yet come when we can afford to dispense with the apostolic injunction to "believe not every spirit, but to try the spirits." Indeed, this counsel is peculiarly pertinent and needful at a time when we are beset by the appeals of so-called Christian Science, of Dowieism, of Spiritualism, New Astrology, Palmistry and numerous other forms of occult art, to say nothing of numerous fads and upstart schools of medicine. It is probable that no system has ever yet been compounded of pure error, and so we should always have a mind open to recognize the grain of truth or fact which may possibly enter into the most preposterous and objectionable fads, but our attitude towards all these systems and schools should be one of very strong conservatism. Provided one has a firm standing ground of his own and will not allow himself to be carried off his feet by every wind of new belief that blows, he may occasionally extract some helpful element of fact or suggestion from these side currents and eddies of thought It is not always easy to draw the line between a current of thought that is merely a side back-flow, a blind return towards some abandoned belief of the past, and one that is in line with the main current of advancing knowledge.

The Observer has recently been looking over a book entitled "The Law of the New Thought" by Mr. William Walker Atkinson, and has found much in it that in his judgment is true and valuable. Like the writings of Mr. Ralph Waldo Trine, the author of "In Tune With the Infinite," this book is representative of the type of religious temperament and thaught which Professor William James calls "the religion of healthy-mindedness." The New Thought we are told, "calls upon Man to cease his lamenting and repining and urges him to stand erect and assert his right to live and be happy It teachers him to be brave, as there is nothing to fear. It teaches him to abolish fearthought and worry, and the other foul brood of negative thoughts, such as Hate, Jealousy, Malice, Envy and Uncharitableness, that have been keeping him in the mire of Despair and Failure. The New Thought stands for the Fatherhood of God—the Oneness of All—the Brotherhood of Man—the Kingship of Self." It is only fair to the author to say that he admits that the New Thought is not really new. Certainly it would not be difficult to find a full equivalent of the foregoing in the sayings of our Lord in the Gospels. If there is anything in the ideals of the New Thought that puts our ordinary lives to shame, it is because we have failed to enter seriously into our proper heritage of Christian faith.

It may seem invidious to pass a criticism upon a type of thought so optimistic and bracing as that reflected in this and similar books, but it seems to the Observer that in shutting its eyes to the whole vast field of suffering and moral struggle it loses sight of what gives to life its greatest depth and richness. Much as there is in "The Law of the New Thought" that is true and helpful, there is nevertheless in it a strong flavor of something left out. From the point of view of the religion of "healthy mindedness" such experiences as those of St Paul and St. Augustine, and even of our Lord Himself in His Temptation, were needless and abnormal; but none the less it is just such experiences that impart a rich content and flavor to the highest type of Christian life. It is an old, old truth that if we would reign, we must also suffer; and it is just for the lack of the perception of this truth that the New Thought is defective.

"The Law of the New Thought" shows that the author has a broad and accurate grasp of the latest results of psychological science. Particularly helpful is his statement of three grades or levels which enter into personality, viz:, the conscious, the sub-conscious and the super-conscious.

Ticket Agents Confer.

Mr. Thos. Gallagher, the Pennsy ticket and freight agent at Emporium, entertained the following brother ticket agents on Tuesday: S. A. Brehm, Olean; J. M. Mallison, Cuba; Geo. Weber, Port Allegheny. After partaking of a good dinner at the New Warner, Mr. Gallagher showed them the points of interest and explained, no doubt, why Emporium was the largest freight paying station on Pennsy system between Harrisburg and Erie. Of course they viewed Emporium's beautiful (?) passenger depot, erected more than forty years ago.

Death of Augustus F. Nelson.

Mr. Augustus F. Nelson, of Huntley, an old friend of the PRESS, died at his residence, Friday evening, April 7th. His death was caused by catarrh of the bladder. Mr. Nelson was 54 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter. The funeral was held from the house, Sunday, April 9th. Religious services were conducted by the Rev. Ebersole Undertaker Geo. J. LaBar of Emporium, had charge of the funeral. The remains were interred in Huntley Cemetery.

Huntley, Pa., April 11th, 1905.

Joins Forces with Uncle Sam.

Mr. E G. Germon, his many friends will be sorry to learn, leaves Emporium next week to locate at Indian Head, Md., to enter the employ of Uncle Sam, as an expert chemist, a position he has acceptably filled with both the Keystone and Climax Powder Companies at this place We all wish him well and take pleasure in endorsing him as a gentleman in all that word implies.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

HEILMAN.

MRS. LAURA E. HEILMAN, aged 53 years, wife of Dr. R. P. Heilman, died last Monday evening, after an illness of two years, the past year of a very serious nature, ending her long suffering While her death was not unexpected yet the sad news cast a gloom over a large circle of friends. Mrs. Heilman has resided in Emporium for upwards of thirty years and in connection with her church work took a lively interest in G. A. R., work and labored zealously to relieve the widows of deceased soldiers and their families. Always ready to assist in all charitable or public functions; she always took a front rank. Mrs. Heilman will be greatly missed, not only by her husband and family, for whom she unselfishingly labored and planned, but by many dear friends, who remember with gratitude her goodness of heart.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral services, which is being held this afternoon, at the family residence, West Fourth street, is very largely attended, is being conducted by her Pastor, the Rev. Oliver S. Metzler, Pastor of First Methodist Church. The remarks of the eloquent divine, which we publish in part, will be fuly endorsed by the friends of the deceased:

I believe I voice a feeling common to this large company when I say that it is with spirits depressed with a deep sense of bereavement that we are assembled to day. A little more than five years ago, during the pastorate of Dr. W. P. Shriner, Mrs. Laura E. Heilman united with the First Methodist Episcopal Church in this place and to say that the intervening years have been years of development—development along many lines of usefulness under the fostering forces of Divine Grace and of devotion to the varied interests of her church, is to affirm what finds support in the observation and experience of those who knew her best. She loved her church and was active, as she could command the strength and opportunity in advancing its welfare. Perhaps no one of our bands of faithful women wrought more diligently or had more substantial success to crown their efforts.

The sickness which resulted in her death began more than a year ago and though every remedy known to the medical profession was resorted to, to stay its progress, they were absolutely without avail—affording only the most transient relief. Last Autumn upon her return from Buffalo, whither she had gone with her husband for consultation with an eminent specialist, that she might ascertain the true nature of the malady that afflicted her and with a full realization of its gravity, she told me that death had no terrors and that while her love of life was still strong and her interest in her family and church unabated, she was not unready for the summons should it come.

Of like character were the testimonies repeatedly born to the sustaining Grace of God in the severe and almost incessant suffering of the past year. With patience and fortitude she endured, often forgetful of her bodily distress in loving concern for her family and the church she delighted to serve. Her unselfishness was frequently manifested in her kindly inquiries after others in the neighborhood known to be sick and in the provisions her generous heart prompted her to propose for the relief of their sufferings and for their larger comfort.

She was a sensible, sympathetic, patient and diligent woman. To her husband a true helpmate and to the children always giving a faithful care, wise oversight and a loving nurture. Her love found expression in fidelity even to sacrifice and in labors long continued

Late last Monday afternoon I was hastily summoned to her home, I found on arriving that my worst fears were unfortunately confirmed. The weak and rapidly waning pulse, the death damp, the death palor for-tokened the end, we all felt the end was near though none betrayed, except by anxious looks and suppressed or stifled feelings his fears to the other. She requested that the hymn, "Lord Jesus I Long to be Perfectly Whole" be played and sung and that her pastor offer prayer.

Lord Jesus I long to be perfectly whole,
I want thee forever to live in my soul,
Break down every idol, cast out every foe,
Now wash me and I shall be whiter than snow.

This was done though it was with an effort that was lascerating to our hearts that her wishes were complied with. Rising from our knees, she said, "Now I feel better" and the look of serenity and peace that overspread her countenance was a silent confirmation of the spoken testimony. A half hour later she was helped to bed. The exertion proved too much and almost without a struggle she passed away. But shall we not add that her going away was a getting home. Her departure an entrance, her death a birth, her leaving loved ones here, being gathered to the General Assembly and Church of the First Born in Heaven.

RELATIVES AND FRIENDS IN ATTENDANCE AT THE FUNERAL.

Mrs. Betsy Williams (mother), Mrs. Clara Newton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Newton, (sisters), Mrs. Loyal Grant, (sister), Erie, Pa.; Mr. Norman Heilman, (brother), Mrs. E. M. Bates, (sister), Williamsport, Pa.; Mr. John Heilman, (son), Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Mr. Vernon Heilman and wife, (son), Portland Mills, Pa; Mrs. J. F Hayes, (sister), Cogan Station.

The pall bearers were selected from the church, G. A. R., and fraternal societies, viz: F. P. Strayer, Walter Morrison, M. M. Larrabee, A. Chapman, J. P. McNarney and I. K. Hockley.

Organ Recital.

Dr. Minor C. Baldwin, of New York City, the gifted organist will give an organ recital in St. Mark's Catholic Church, Emporium, on Friday evening, (to-morrow.) The price of admission will be 50c. This will be the first puclic recital since the new organ has been placed in the church and it is hoped a large audience will greet Dr. Baldwin.

This gentleman gave a Recital in Mulberry Street M. E. Church, Williamsport, last Tuesday evening to a large audience. The Williamsport Bulletin in speaking of the entertainment says:

"That Dr. Minor C. Baldwin is a genius of the first water and an artist of exceptional gift and culture cannot be gainsaid, for he held the vast audience spellbound thoughout a long and intricate program on classical selections at the organ recital at the Mulberry Street M. E., church Monday evening. Encores were the order of the evening, and Dr. Baldwin was repeatedly recalled and responded generously.

This was Dr. Baldwin's second public appearance in this city, and the program was up to the standard of that of his previous visit, abounding in the classic music sufficiently to satisfy the most critical.

The recital opened with the Fleuret Sonata. While comparatively new and seldom found on organ programs in the intirety, it created a profound impression. The composition opens with a strong harmonic theme with the usual sonata form development, introducing a choral of strong Gregorian character. Slight variations of choral follow, again re entry of original theme, and closing the movement with the choral with full organ."

Italian Brawl at Cross Fork.

The outcome of a personal disagreement last Sunday between the wives of Geino Debacco and Mike Leone, of Cross Fork, Potter County, resulted in a free for all fight in which not only a number of Italians, but several Americans were mixed up. Mrs. Debacco, it said, charged Mrs. Leone with being the cause of Mr. Debacco's brother Joseph leaving their home and going to the Leone home to live. After quarreling with Mrs. Leone, Mrs. Debacco then went to her husband with her tale of woe, thus causing Mr. Debacco to become excited and thirst for vengeance. Other "Ikes" were informed of the trouble and all proceeded to Leone's store. Martin Brown and Joe Jones, two Americans, were in the store at the time, and barely escaped. The beginning of the fight was a pistol pointed at an Italian in conversation with Brown. This started things going. The parties of war being crazed by drink took no pains to use aim when firing and shots were fired in all directions. The fight was brought to an end by officers arriving on the scene but not until several had been wounded. Ricardo Debacco was shot in the stomach and died in the Austin hospital Wednesday night, where he had been taken.

Frank Gasba one of the principle figures in the fight, is still at large and it is rumored that $500 reward will be given by the Commissioners for his capture.

The Boys See the Capitol.

Hon. Josiah Howard last Friday took six of Emporium's young lads to Harrisburg to visit the Capitol and take in the sights. The party was composed of W. H. Howard, Jr., Frank Housler, Chas. Foster, Boyd Snyder, Earl McDougall and Clifford Burkheart. Yesterday Mr. Howard took another yarty of lads, composed of the following: Lewis Leutze, Rodney Shives, Clyde Thomas, Ned Viner, Mack Halderman and Geo. Fetter. Of course the boys had a great large time.

Before Pension Board.

B. G. Bartie was ordered before the Examining Board at Emporium on Wednesday. Mr. Bartie at one time was drawing a pension of $12 a month. He was one of those upon whom the Commissioner of Pensions dropped his axe under the Cleveland administration. Later he was restored to $8 a month and again to $10. He is now asking for back pay or the difference between his original pension and his present amount. Here's hoping that he gets it.—Port Allegany Argus.

Quietly Married.

Charles Cox and Miss Rose Extrom, two popular young people of Emporium were quietly married last evening and left on the Buffalo Flyer on their honeymoon, to visit Mr. Cox's parents at Bowmanville, Canada this morning. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. Robt. McCaslin of Presbyterian church.

The boys had noticed Charles acting rather serious lately and kept one eye on him in case he should try to get away, but he was equally active and remembered his friends in due time. The PRESS extends congratulations.

Andrew Blinzler is rejoicing over the arrival of a big boy at his home this a. m.

Mrs. A. Brady has had a Steinway Grand piano placed in her parlor in the Crane Flat.

B. W. Green and family returned from Florida yesterday afternoon and report a delightful visit.

Geo. P. Jones may be excused for wearing his great coat and acting as though he had been walking the floor. It can be easily explained. It's a boy, of the regulation weight.

Sheriff Harry Hemphill was down from Emporium on Tuesday. It is too bad that he can't succeed himself.—Driftwood Gazette. Right you are, brother, Cameron county never had a more efficient Sheriff and the citizens of Cameron county are proud of his record.

Gave the Court Notice.

In a rural justice court the defendant in a case was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail. He had known the judge from boyhood, and addressed him as follows:

"Bill, old boy, you're a gwine to send me ter jail, air you?"

"That's what," replied the judge. "Have you got anything to say ag'in it?"

"Only this here, Bill: God help you when I git out!"—Atlanta Constitution.

To Banish Sea-Sickness.

Bright red spectacles, accompanied by internal doses of calomel, form a new German specific against sea-sickness. It is deducted from Epstein's investigations on the influence of color on the blood vessels in the brain. Sea sickness is due to lack of blood in the brain, while red sends blood to the brain with a rush. By looking at one point for some time through the red glasses the patient is rapidly cured.

Cargo of Cheese.

A record consignment of cheese was recently dispatched from Liverpool to London. It consisted of 5,000 cheeses, weighing 200 tons, and was consigned to one person, a London merchant. The whole of the cheese was Canadian. Its value was about £9,000. Some 32 railway trucks were required for the carriage of the cheese.

Room for Good Men.

Divorce in England.

The number of petitions filed for dissolution of marriages in England and Wales in 1902 was 1,050, against 900 in 1901. The annual average number of petitions filed in five years (1898-1902) was 853. The number of petitions filed in 1902 by husbands was 609; by wives, 441; total, 1,050.

NEW PANACEA BY BRYAN.

Recommended by Him as the Great Remedy for the People's Political Ills.

Not many years ago William J. Bryan was going up and down in the land assuring the people that the one thing wanting to make them prosperous and happy was the free and unlimited coinage of silver, for account of depositors of that metal at the mints, at the rate of 16 ounces to one ounce of gold.

He was telling the people in rear-end platform speeches as he rushed from place to place, says the Chicago Chronicle, that the alleged "demonetization of silver—"the crime of '73"—was the cause of hard times, lack of employment and all other economic woes, and that the "remonetization of silver" would lift their burdens and fill the land with all the good things of life.

Four years later he was not so insistent upon immediate free coinage without waiting for the concurrent action or consent of any other nation. Imperialism had come to be the paramount issue, the imminent danger, the frightful monster threatening the liberties of the people and the life of the republic. He declared that we must throttle imperialism and be sure of our freedom before we could stop to talk about the sort of money we should have.

After another interval of four years he perceived that the country had survived imperialism, and the formal establishment of the gold standard and had become wonderfully prosperous despite these dreadful happenings. In fact, it had become too prosperous, in so much that enormous corporations had been formed by the union of smaller ones and capitalized at from twice to four times the value of the properties combined, and that these were a source of unhappiness and would soon make us unspeakably wretched. Especially were great railroad combinations a source of impending tyranny and impoverishment. Therefore he changed his prescription for the salvation of the country to government ownership of railroads. At first it was state ownership, but later he modified that and made it state ownership of roads for traffic not crossing state lines—instate traffic—and national ownership of roads for interstate traffic.

Now, after an interval of less than four months, he is out with a new prescription. Finding himself badly tangled in his mixed state and national ownership, he seeks escape under cover of a loud outcry for the direct election of United States senators by the people. This he now declares to be the great source of relief from most of the burdens under which the country is laboring. Of one thing he feels sure—that "when the United States senate is elected by the direct vote of the people the trusts will be done away with."

Probably Mr. Bryan will think it safe to stick to this new political panacea for more than four months. It is not new with him except as a panacea. It has been agitated more or less for years, and, since it has called out no popular opposition to speak of, it is a tolerably safe thing to offer it as a cure-all when there is nothing else in sight that looks as though it might be popular.

Perhaps the senate would be better if senators were elected directly by popular vote, and perhaps it would not. Of one thing we may be sure, it would not be much more responsive to the popular clamor which passes for public opinion. Its conservatism and comparative indifference to clamor are due much more to the fact that the term of a senator is three times as long as that of a representative than to the fact that he is elected by the legislature and not by direct popular vote. It would still be comparatively slow and conservative if elected by the latter mode, both because of the length of the term and because the senate is a smaller body than the house and can be in fact a deliberative body and still reach decisions in most cases within a reasonable time.

CURRENT PRESS COMMENT.

☞Is Mr. Bryan trying to bring on a breach-of-promise suit against the democratic reorganizers with the hope of profiting by the separation?—N. Y. World (Ind., Dem.).

☞One of Mr. Bryan's favorite lectures is on "The Value of an Ideal." It is no wonder Mr. Bryan values ideals. Several times in his career he has been up against the real.—Chicago Tribune.

☞Judge Parker believes that his recent participation in national politics bars him from accepting a nomination for the bench in New York. The judge seems to take his part in the late unpleasantness more seriously than the rest of the country did.—Washington Post.

☞The Boston Advertiser says: "If the duty is taken from raw hides it will be because the tariff makers are satisfied that the present law does not protect, but really hurts American industries." If the producers of American hides are heard on the subject there will be some difficulty about tariff revisers satisfying themselves that no one will be injuriously affected by the removal of the duty from the products of this particular American industry.—San Francisco Chronicle.

☞Mr. Bryan has started out to get a fresh cinch on public attention with a new lecture entitled "Back to the People." Perhaps what he really means is "How the People Went Back on Parker."—Troy Times.

☞In referring to the Missouri senatorial deadlock, an eastern republican paper says: "These clashes, precipitated for the most part by personal revenge and personal ambition, betray a fatal narrowness of vision and lack of public spirit." It is a pity a few bolters can bring reproaches like that on a faithful party.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HEAD OF THE COMMITTEE.

Light on the Recent Selection Chairman New for National Position.

Probably a great deal more importance is attached to the new selection for acting chairman of the republican national committee than it deserves. Chairman Cortelyou has named Harry S. New, of Indiana, for acting chairman. Mr. New has been more or less prominent in the politics of the Hoosier state for a score of years. He has been the state's representative on the national committee since 1900. He was made a member of the executive section of the committee in 1900 by Chairman Hanna, which was something of a distinction for a new member of the national organization.

It has been imagined, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, that Chairman Cortelyou's selection of his acting successor would reveal the administration's preference for the presidential candidacy of 1908. As a consequence the choice was awaited with much interest by the country. Now that it has come, it is hard to see that it has much significance. It has been said that Vice President Fairbanks, thinking there was a possibility of the choice of New worked against the selection. New and Fairbanks are not harmonious. It is said that New is against the idea of the Fairbanks candidacy for 1908, and that he wants Beveridge or somebody else to get it.

But this will not have the slightest influence on the chances of any of the aspirants. It is not the business of the head of the national committee to work for or against any particular personage except as he does so as a private person. He has no right to use the influence of his office for or against anybody in the national convention. The chairman of the committee is to work for republican success, no matter who is the party standard bearer. The chances are that the chairman, whether he be Mr. New or somebody else—for the New selection is but temporary, and is to last only until the committee makes a choice of chairman—will recognize the proprieties sufficiently to keep his hands off the matter of the nomination. There must be a free field for all the aspirants. The man who secures the favor of the majority of the republican voters is the man who will be chosen to lead the party in 1908.

NEW SENATOR OF MISSOURI

An Omen of Fourth Victory for Republicans and the Roosevelt-tian Policy.

The outcome of the long struggle over the Missouri senatorship is so wholly satisfactory from every point of view that republicans—"Roosevelt republicans"—everywhere will gladly forget the disgraceful scenes of selfishness and bargaining among other candidates which preceded it—and which threatened a national disappointment—as they congratulate one another, the winner, and the state he is to represent.

Maj. William Warner is a typical old line Lincoln republican, says the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. Wisconsin-born, he won his military title by four years' service in the war for the union in the Thirty-third and Forty-fourth Wisconsin regiments. Since the war he has been one of the most active among the men who have led the political thought of Kansas City and represented the best aspirations of Missouri republicanism. He has served as city attorney, circuit attorney, and United States district attorney; as mayor and as a member of congress for two terms. In 1892, as the republican candidate for governor, he made a canvass which attracted national attention and which put the democracy on its mettle to defeat him. In every position he has won honor; from each he has retired poor. Corporations and combines have never been able to "use" him. President Roosevelt will find in him a staunch supporter; which would not have been the case, in railroad or anti-trust legislation, had either Niedringhaus or Kerens been elected.

Maj. Warner's election will unify the republican party in Missouri and bring to naught the democratic hopes based on the acrimonious contest just ended. It will help cure the recalcitrant attitude of the senate toward the sentiment which swept Theodore Roosevelt into the presidency last November by such an unprecedented majority. It is an omen of further victory for the Roosevelt ian policy.

Argument for the Tariff.

The contention of the tariff revisers that the present schedules oppress the commercial development of the country is not borne out by statistics. In 1896, when the present tariff was adopted, our exports of domestic manufactures amounted to $177,800,969. Since then they have increased year by year until in 1903 they reached in value the amount of $421,453,915. The report for the calendar year of 1904 has recently been compiled and it appears that the amount increased to $502,764,729. Such a showing makes a cogent argument in favor of the let-well-enough-alone policy.—Pittsburg Gazette.

STANDARD DEFENDED

Lawyer Dodd, Chief Attorney for the Oil Trust, Issues a Statement.

RAILROADS, GAS AND COPPER

Mr. Dodd Denies that the Standard Owns Any Railroad Stock, or that John D. Rockefeller Was an Organizer of the Gas and Copper Combines.

New York, April 7.—S. C. T. Dodd, chief solicitor of the Standard Oil Co., gave out a statement yesterday with reference to the recent discussion as to the acceptance of a gift of $100,000 offered by John D. Rockefeller for missionary work. Mr. Dodd declares that the statement that Mr. Rockefeller made his money dishonestly, "is false, is vile and, being made by ministers in the pretended interest of morality, is doubly vile."

Mr. Dodd then says that the Standard Oil Co. does not own a share of stock of any railroad company, does not control any railroad company, and that since the enactment of the interstate commerce law, has not received lower rates than other shippers by rebates, arrangements, devices or plans of any character. The testimony of Howard Page, freight agent of the Standard Oil Co., before the industrial commission is quoted in this connection. With reference to gas and copper companies, Mr. Dodd says:

"No doubt many have been prejudiced against Mr. Rockefeller by sensational writers, whose articles accompanied by portraits and caricatures are intended to create the impression that Mr. Rockefeller was principal in the affairs relating to the organization of the gas and copper companies, although no fact showing such connection is stated. The Standard Oil Co. has already denied that it had any connection or interest directly or indirectly in the organization of these corporations, and on the best authority the same denial is now made for John D. Rockefeller."

Bloodhounds Failed to Furnish Clue.

San Francisco, April 7.—Bloodhounds were put to work yesterday by detectives here in an effort to gain a clue to the slayers of a young man whose dismembered body was found in Vallejo street late Wednesday night. The hounds took up the trail at the bloodstained spot on the sidewalk where the remains were deposited by an unknown man. The bloodhounds ended their run at a house on Mason street, on the steps of which were several drops of blood. In the place, however, nothing incriminating was found.

A Record of Railroad Accidents.

Washington, April 7.—A report of the railroad accidents in the United States during October, November and December, 1904, has been compiled by the inter-state commerce commission. It shows that, in that quarter, 53 passengers and 189 employes were killed, and 1,430 passengers and 1,868 employes injured; a total of 242 persons killed and 3,298 injured in train accidents. Other accidents to passengers and employes, not the result of collisions or derailments, bring the total number of casualties up to 14,978—951 killed and 14,027 injured.

Three Men Shot in an Election Riot.

Huntington, W. Va., April 7.—After an election conflict in which three men were shot, several were beaten by policemen and deputy sheriffs and numerous county and city officers were arrested and cast in jail, John W. Ensign, democrat, was yesterday elected mayor of Huntington, having a plurality of 48 votes. The democrats elected four councilmen, which with two holdovers and the mayor, gives them control of city affairs. Republican candidates were elected for all other offices.

Everything Is Harmonious.

New York, April 7.—Out of the 50 members of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, 38 assembled in the company's board room yesterday and after an hour and 30 minutes of discussion, in the course of which it is understood the whole Equitable controversy was gone over, announcement was made that those present unanimously had decided to adopt the two years' mutualization plan announced several days ago.

A Collision on the B. & O.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 7.—Last night at Bethesda, O., west of Wheeling, an eastbound passenger train and a westbound freight on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad collided because of the failure of the freight train crew to give the passenger train a clear track. Both locomotives are badly wrecked. One man was killed and two injured.

The Advance of the Japs.

London, April 7.—The correspondent at St. Petersburg of the Times telegraphs: "The latest official information leads to the belief that the Japanese are advancing in crescent formation, Oku on the left, Nodzu on the center and Kuroki and Kawamura on the right."

A Bulge in Steel Trust Stock.

New York, April 7.—A new high record for United States Steel preferred was reached on the stock exchange Thursday when that stock sold for a time at 102⅜, a half a point higher than ever before. It closed at 102. Sales of 171,000 shares were recorded yesterday.

A Teamster in Hard Luck.

Indianapolis, April 7.—Pickpockets yesterday secured $1,585 from Daniel Weaver, a teamster, who had drawn the sum from a bank to pay for a home. The sum represents the savings of a lifetime.

THE SHADOW OF TERRORISM

It Hangs Over Russia Like a Black Cloud—A General Uprising Is Expected Soon.

St. Petersburg April 6.—The prospects of a general upheaval of the city and country with the advent of spring increase daily. Evidence accumulates that the radical forces are acting in unison and awaiting a signal which it is generally believed will be given shortly after the Russian Easter. The Terrorists are showing great activity and reports from all over the country prove that the workmen, who in many cases have been formulating petty demands which are no sooner granted than they are succeeded by others, are acting under instructions from the revolutionary leaders, who are only biding their time. The employers say that it is impossible to continue their businesses and some of them have shut down. The people are plainly becoming panicky and the authorities cannot conceal their alarm.

Warsaw, April 6.—In anticipation of the funeral of a girl who died of wounds received in the fighting in Dzika street on Sunday, the workmen of all the factories in the northern part of the city left their work yesterday afternoon and crowded Elekoralna and Leszno streets. The police, fearing a hostile demonstration, forbade the funeral and summoned Cossacks, who, using their knouts and swords freely, succeeded in dispersing the gathering.

The police and military made a further house to house visitation in the suburb of Wela Tuesday night, where they arrested 14 persons and discovered great quantities of revolutionary proclamations.

Harbin, April 6.—Complete returns received at headquarters give the total Russian losses in killed, wounded and prisoners at the battle of Mukden as 107,000. The wounded are being taken away from here over the Siberian railroad as rapidly as possible in order to free the hospitals preparatory to a renewal of fighting.

A THEFT OF VALUABLE RUGS

A Turk Claims that $250,000 Worth of Goods Which He Brought to New York Disappeared.

New York, April 6.—Charged with the larceny of two Oriental rugs, valued respectively at $10,000 and $8,000, Frederick Comp, of Rutherford, N. J., formerly bookkeeper for the firm of Sajun & Telehram, which went into bankruptcy on Saturday, was arrested Wednesday and held in $5,600 bail.

The arrest was made at the instance of Hadji Hassanof, a dealer who said that he brought $250,000 worth of rugs to this country and placed them in storage with Sajun & Telehram some months ago, since which time he had been unable to get any track of the goods until yesterday, when he found these rugs in a broker's office, where, he said, they had been placed on exhibition by Comp. He also said he had been unable to find any member of the firm since the bankruptcy proceedings were instituted.

A Tragedy in a Park.

Philadelphia, April 6.—Mrs. Urania Cundy, aged 23 years, of Patchogue, Long Island, died here Wednesday from a bullet wound in the head. The shooting occurred in Fairmount park and her husband, Percy Cundy, is under arrest. At first the man said that his wife shot herself, while admitting that he had purchased the revolver intending to kill both himself and his wife. Later he told the police that while he and his wife were seated in the park he placed the revolver at his wife's temple and, as he hesitated, Mrs. Cundy, he says, grasped the weapon and discharged it.

Stands for the Open Door.

Washington, April 6.—Germany yesterday clearly outlined to the United States her Moroccan policy. Acting under instructions from Berlin, Von Speck Sternburg, the German ambassador, called at the war department and left with Secretary Taft a memorandum to this effect: Germany stands for the open door in Morocco as in the far east and for the preservation of the status quo, and for the safeguarding of the commercial and trade interests not only of Germany, but of all trading nations of the world.

Was a Veteran of Two Wars.

Norfolk, Va., April 6.—Daniel Knowles, aged 75 years, one of the few survivors of those who fought on the Confederate ram Merrimac in the fight with the Monitor in Hampton Roads during the civil war, is dead. He was a veteran of two wars, having served in the United States navy during the Mexican war. On the Merrimac during the Hampton Roads fight he was a gun captain and commanded the big Dahlgren gun crew during the two days' fight.

The Mountains Trembled.

Calcutta, April 6.—Reports from many towns show widespread damage and many fatalities from the earthquake Tuesday. Personal stories from Mussoore state that the reverberation which preceded the shock never will be forgotten by those who heard it. The mountains heaved and swayed a full minute and then three severe shocks, each lasting a few seconds, were felt in quick succession. Between 6 o'clock in the morning and midnight there were 12 shocks.

A Disastrous Drouth in Spain.

Madrid, April 6.—Owing to an extreme drouth all field work in Andalusia has been suspended for a considerable time and crops are threatened with total destruction. The cost of necessaries of life has risen to exorbitant figures. The municipal authorities have done their utmost to alleviate the distress.

Three Deaths in Fire.

Dundas, Ont., April 6.—Fire in the residence of Godfrey Walker early yesterday resulted in the death of Mr. Walker and his two daughters, Annie and Jennie.

WITH ROUGH RIDERS

President Roosevelt Attends the Reunion of His Regiment at San Antonio.

RECEIVED HEARTY WELCOME

Within the Shade of the Historic Alamo He Was Greeted in a Wildly Enthusiastic Manner and Responded to an Address of Welcome.

San Antonio, Tex., April 8.—With the city covered with patriotic emblems, a display of flags of all sizes, likenesses of the president in many windows and the streets filled with cheering throngs of people, Theodore Roosevelt could not mistake the hearty welcome accorded him in San Antonio yesterday. Enormous crowds of people greeted him along the route of the procession from Fort Sam Houston to Alamo plaza, where an address of welcome was delivered and a response made.

It was nearly seven years since he left San Antonio with his Rough Riders.

"No human being dreamed that after that I would return as president of the United States," he said in a short address at the depot.

It was a busy day for the president. It began with the reception at the train. This formality was soon over and the president and party proceeded to the parade grounds of the post, where the troops in Fort Sam Houston were reviewed. This ceremony over, the start was made for the city.

From the moment the procession of troops, carriages, police and Rough Riders swept out of the gates of the post into Grayson street until the president entered the fair grounds to go to camp with the Rough Riders, he was the recipient of ovations.

The most spectacular scene of the day was at Travis park. The president's reception here by 8,000 school children was the most inspiring feature of the program. All the way the crowd cheered and the children sang "America" while a band played the national air.

On Alamo plaza, within the shadow of the old Alamo, he was greeted in a manner which profoundly touched him. His arrival was the signal for a burst of cheering which lasted until after he had taken his seat on the stand, and which was renewed when he arose to respond to the address of welcome.

RECEPTION IN LOUISVILLE, KY.

St. Louis, April 5.—President Roosevelt and party passed through Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois yesterday and at 8:30 last night after spending an hour and a half in this city left here for the southwest over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad. The most notable reception of the day was at Louisville, Ky., where the president spent two hours.

Louisville, Ky., April 5.—In the shadow of a magnificent bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson, just in front of the architecturally imposing court house of Jefferson county, President Roosevelt on Tuesday in something less than 15 minutes delivered a notable address to a crowd which extended for two blocks on the east and west sides of the speakers' stand.

IN THE LONE STAR STATE.

Dallas, Tex., April 6.—President Roosevelt is the guest of Texas. The special train bearing the president and his party arrived in Dallas over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad at 6:20 o'clock last night. Reception committees were in attendance when the train rolled into the station and the chief executive was driven through the streets to a stand near the Oriental hotel, where he delivered an address. The streets were packed with citizens and the reception accorded the president was flattering.

When the president awoke yesterday morning his train was traversing southeastern Kansas, having crossed Missouri during the night. At every station large and enthusiastic crowds were in attendance.

A TRIP ACROSS TEXAS.

San Antonio, Tex., April 7.—After an eventful trip yesterday across a large portion of Texas, President Roosevelt arrived in San Antonio last night. When the train bearing the president reached the station he was greeted with cheers from thousands of throats and the lusty "hurrahs" of his old comrades in arms, the Rough Riders of the Spanish war, who are holding their annual reunion near the historic Alamo, could plainly be heard above the din.

The president's train left Dallas at 5:30 o'clock in the morning. The first stop was at Hillsboro, where the entire population turned out and the president spoke briefly.

Austin was reached at 2 o'clock and President Roosevelt was met at the station by Gov. Lanham, Lieut. Gov. Neil and a committee of members of the Texas legislature. All members of the party took carriages and drove to the state house, where President Roosevelt made two speeches.

A Bank Wrecker Goes Free.

Denver, Col., April 8.—By order of Judge Johnson the jury in the case of E. M. Johnson, former president of the defunct Fidelity Savings association, charged with embezzlement, on Friday returned a verdict of not guilty. While lamenting the fact that thousands of poor persons had been made penniless by the failure of the Fidelity, Judge Johnson said the worst that had been proven was mismanagement, which was not on trial. District Attorney Stiger said that he would now prosecute the indictment of Johnson for violations of the banking law.

TO FULFILL HIS PLEDGES

Mayor-Elect Dunne, of Chicago, Outlines Plans for Securing Municipal Ownership.

New York, April 8.—Fresh from his triumph in the recent municipal election Mayor-Elect Edward F. Dunne, of Chicago, came to New York yesterday and last night addressed a large meeting in Cooper Union under the auspices of the Municipal Ownership league of this city. He told how he expected to carry out his pledges made in his recent campaign in Chicago to attain municipal ownership and of the benefits as he perceived them of city control of public utilities. He said in part:

"Next Monday Chicago starts upon her mission of dislodging private capital from the control of our street car system."

Asked what tactics would be used in acquiring control of the railways, he replied:

"If it cannot be done by fair and just bargaining, we will be compelled to resort to the courts for condemnation proceedings, and they will be compelled to surrender the utilities for the price that will be named in the verdict.

"If within a reasonable length of time after the trial, verdict and judgment the railway corporations do not surrender the utilities, the people of Chicago will confiscate their property, run it in their own interest and the railway corporations can resort to the court of appeals, but in the meantime the people will have possession."

THE BUSINESS BAROMETER

Gains in the Volume of Business are Fully Maintained.

New York, April 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Recent gains in the volume of business are fully maintained, but further improvement is somewhat retarded by unfavorable weather in some sections. Buyers are still arriving at the leading cities, placing aditional spring orders, and most fall lines that have been opened are meeting with an encouraging reception. Manufacturing returns are all that could be desired, building operations expand and agricultural prospects are better than normal. There is little friction between capital and labor, most new wage scales being arranged on the old basis, and in some cases advances are granted, while the number of unemployed is steadily decreasing. Freight traffic is very heavy.

A general increase of wages at the plants of the greatest iron and steel producer is another tangible evidence of the improvement in that industry. New orders are coming forward constantly and it is probable that the tonnage of advance business on the books now surpasses all previous high water marks.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 232, against 235 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 28, against 29 last year.

A LABOR WAR IN CHICAGO

Two Hundred Teamsters Strike in Sympathy with the Garment Workers.

Chicago, April 8.—Chicago is again in the throes of a contest between capital and labor unions. As on former occasions the unions have resorted to the use of the union teamsters to bring them victory in the struggle, which threatens to spread to many branches of the teaming industries of the city.

The present trouble had its beginning in a strike several months ago of a few hundred garment workers employed by Montgomery Ward & Co. The closed shop is the issue, and in order to bring the firm to the terms of the union, a strike of the 200 drivers and teamsters employed by the concern was called yesterday.

As has usually been the case in the past, when the teamsters are called on to assist in a sympathetic strike, the down town streets of Chicago were the scenes of disorders which followed fast on each other when an attempt was made to deliver goods with non-union drivers. Many teamsters, garment workers and their friends filled the streets and many clashes with the police occurred. In several cases it was necessary for the police to arrest several of the belligerents before the blockade could be lifted.

The Sioux Will be Wealthy.

Fort Yates, N. D., April 8.—In a great council called by Maj. McLaughlin, the Sioux Indians of this reservation have decided almost unanimously that they are ready to have their lands allotted. Each head of a family will have 640 acres. Each Indian over 18 years will receive 320 acres. In addition he will get a span of good mares, two cows, a wagon and harness, a plow, a harrow, some other tools and $50 in cash. Indians under 18 get 160 acres apiece.

Are Watching for Rojestvensky.

London, April 8.—A dispatch from Singapore says that the captain of a coasting steamer reports having sighted 27 warships 70 miles west of Penang. A Batavia dispatch says that Japanese warships are policing all the straits available to Rojestvensky.

Intend to Build a Pipe Line.

Chanute, Kan., April 8.—Representatives of 30 independent oil companies which control three-fourths of the oil production of Kansas, met here Friday and decided to form a company representing $7,000,000 of invested capital to build a fuel oil pipe line from the Kansas Oil field to Kansas City.

Eight Killed, 26 Injured.

Harbin, April 8.—By a collision of military trains west of Harbin eight soldiers were killed and 26 men wounded. The accident was due to the engine crew, who were worn out with excessive work.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, April 8, 1905.

Editor Press:—

The presidential candidacy to be settled in the Republican national convention three years from the coming summer is being discussed in Washington to a surprising extent, a result, perhaps, of the absence of other topics of more absorbing interest, but also promoted by the incipient presidential booms which have already made their appearance. Among the men who have avowed their aspirations, privately or publicly, are Vice President Fairbanks, Senator Foraker, Secretary Shaw and,—the latest of the aspirants—though not avowed, Postmaster General Cortelyou. Two other names are mentioned in this connection, those of Elihu Root, former Secretary of War, and William H. Taft, present Secretary of War. Of the field, Vice President Fairbanks is regarded by the public as the most likely candidate and there is no doubt that he is playing the game of politics with a master hand. On the other hand, there are many shrewd politicians who say that Mr. Fairbanks' boom is premature and that, like most premature things, it is likely to get nipped by frosts. A facile speaker and a suave conversationalist, the Vice President makes many friends but few of the "thick and thin" variety, for the reason that he possesses too little magnetism to draw men to him in that way. His enemies tell ugly stories of Wall Street domination and an unholy alliance with J. P. Morgan and E. H. Harriman, successively, based no doubt on the fact that the Vice President made his fortune as a railroad attorney and probably on little else. But aspiring canditates, can, unfortunately, never escape unwarranted insinuations from those opposed to them.

There is one man who is not a candidate and who has no intention of becoming one who is regarded by many of the ablest politicians in both parties as the most probable nominee—his name is Theodore Roosevelt. No one who knows the President questions the sincerity of his assertion that under no conditions would he accept the nomination for another term. On the other hand, it is pointed out that no man can refuse the insistence of a national convention and that President Roosevelt would be powerless to stem the tide, whatever might be his wishes, if it were once turned in his favor. Those who predict that President Roosevelt will succeed himself declare that the next national Republican convention will be the scene of tremendous factional activity, that finally it will become evident that no one of the candidates whose name has been considered can be nominated and that, eventually someone will name Roosevelt and that he will be nominated by acclamation.

The hypocrite is the only one who is deceived by his antics.

Restored to His Mother.

I think it saved my boy's life. You do not know how sick he was. His urinate was like blood, and it would almost take his life to urinate. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list and testimonials.

4 gallons Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint mixed with three gallons linseed oil, will paint a house.

W. G. Barr Charleston, W. Va., writes, "Painted Frankenburg block with L. & M. stands out as though varnished."

Wears and covers like gold.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

But oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon and mix it with L. & M.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by Harry S. Lloyd.

The Right Name is DeWitt.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cools, soothes and heals cuts, burns, boils, bruises, piles and all skin diseases. K. E. Zickefoose, Adolph, W. Va., says: "My little daughter had white swelling so bad that piece after piece of bone worked out of her leg. WeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured her." It is the most wonderful healing salve in the world. Beware of counterfeits. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

This world owes even man a chance to earn an honest living.

Forget About Your Stomach.

If your digestion is bad the vital organs of your body are not fed and nourished as they should be. They grow weak and invite disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cures indigestion and all stomach troubles. You forget you have a stomach from the very day you begin taking it. This is because it gets a rest—recuperates and gradually grows so strong and healty that it troubles you no more. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

A good many moving spectacles are due to heartless landlords.

A Night Attack.

Last night the little daughter of Mrs. Brown, as she sweetly and peacefully slept in her little bed near the window, was attacked by a death dealing demon known as Croup Whooping Cough, and but for the timely use of Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, which she always keeps handy, the life of the little one might not have been saved. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is different from all of the old-time cough syrups and is best for children because it acts on the bowels, is harmless, safe and certain. Contains no opiates. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

No man is ready for heaven who is willing to enjoy it alone.

A Daredevil Ride.

Often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., "caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." Soothes and heals burns like magic. 25c at L. Taggart's, druggist.

Whiskey is said to cause almost as many funerals as doctors do.

Frightful Suffering Relieved.

Suffering frightfully from the virulent poisons of undigested food, C. G. Grayson, of Lula, Miss., took Dr. King's New Life Pills, "with the result," he writes, "that I was cured." All stomach and bowel disorders give way to their tonic, laxative properties. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store, guaranteed.

The Woman's Home Companion for May is what you would expect a spring number to be—bright, attractive, beautiful and scarcely a page not illustrated. "Life-Saving at the Zoo" tells about wild animal surgery and the "Lighter Side of Motoring" describes the beauties of flower carnivals. Henry Irving Dodge concludes his now famous series, "The Truth About Food. Adulteration;" Lewis Tracy's great serial, "The King of Diamonds," is also concluded in this number. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Letter to C. E. Crandell.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: Two years ago, Mr. Grant Smith, Erie, Pa., painted three frame houses, and the woodwork of a brick house.

The painter estimated $116.50 for the paint, lead and oil.

He bought Devoe $97.40 and returned $11.60. Saved $31.10 on the paint.

Don't know the cost of the work. By the rule, the saving of labor would be from $60 to $90.

On all, from $90 to $120.

This is the tale, as it comes from Messrs. W. F. Nick & Son, our agents there for 40 years.

Yours truly

WALKER, Associate Judges of Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Quarter Sessions of the Peace, Orphans' Court and Court of Common Pleas for the county of Cameron have issued their precept bearing date the 19th day of Dec. A. D., 1904, and to me directed for holding Court of Oyer and Terminer, General Jail Delivery, Quarter Sessions of the Peace, Orphans' Court, and Court of Common Pleas in the Borough of Emporium, Pa., on Monday, the 24th day of April, 1905, at 10 o'clock, a. m., and to continue one week.

Notice is hereby given to the Coroners, Justices of the Peace and Constables within the county, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock, a. m., of said day, with their rolls, records, inquisitions, examinations, and other rememberances, to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done. And those who are bound by their recognizance to prosecute against them as will be just.

Dated at Emporium, Pa., March 27, 1905, and in the 129th year of the Independence of the United States of America.

HARRY HEMPHILL, Sheriff.

Who use molasses demand the best syrup obtainable. Treacle is not molasses although there's much treacle sailing under false colors. The difference between treacle and molasses lies in the fact that treacle comes from sugar in the process of making, while molasses is obtained in the process of refining. You can not get good out of bad, but you can get the best from the best which comes from the sugar.

We Sell Molasses

That comes from the best and it is the best. Try our New Orleans, finest quality, and be convinced.

THE GRAND ARMY.

In the morning the Grand Army marches out to fight for bread,
There is many a wounded soldier, many a bruised and bleeding head,
There is many, many a marcher who would gladly run away
To be henceforth free from going, weak
and weary, to the fray;
There are few that ever hear
The sweet accent of a cheer,
There are many that lie pulseless, at the closing of the day.

No flags are waved above it as the Army
marches past,
There is no clink-clank of sabers and no
bugle's shrilling blast;
The soldiers wear no trappings made to dazzle and to thrill
And they hear no shout of "Bravo!" for their courage or their skill;
As the great Grand Army comes
There is no loud roll of drums,
No applauding, since the soldiers do not march away to kill.

In the morning the Grand Army, with its boy recruits in line,
Marches bravely out to duty in the field
and mill and mine,
Goes to give its country glory, goes to make it great and strong,
Goes to build the walls and bridges, goes to labor hard and long;
Through the snow and through the rain,
Torn with woe and racked with pain,
Forth the soldiers march to battle, hopeless or with hope and song.

There will be no honors waiting, there will be no grand review
For the soldiers who go trudging where the fields are damp with dew,
Nor the ones whose feet are wearing the hard pavements thin, nor those Who go down the shafts through darkness to meet stealthy, formless foes,
For the war will never cease
And there never can be peace
For the weather-stained battalions till the angel's trumpet blows.

In the morning the Grand Army bravely marches forth to fight
For the love of little children, for the sake of doing right,
For the bridges and the passes so that Progress may push on,
And there's many a wounded soldier,
many a weary one and wan,
Whom a cheer would strengthen so,
But, uncheered, we let them go,
For they merely march to labor and have no fine weapons drawn.

D'ri and I

By IRVING BACHELLER

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Company.)

CHAPTER XVIII.—CONTINUED.

A thought came flying through my brain with the sting of an arrow.

"She must not be deceived. I have not any noble blood in me. I am only the son of a soldier-farmer and have my fortune to make," said I, quickly.

"That is only a little folly," she answered, laughing. "Whether you be rich or poor, prince or peasant, she cares not a snap of her finger. Ciel! is she not a republican, has she not money enough?"

"Nevertheless, I beg you to say, in your letter, that I have nothing but my word and my honor."

As we rode along I noted in my book the place and time we were to meet the captives. The marquis joined us at the Hermitage, where a stable-boy watered our horses. Three servants were still there, the others being now in the count's service.

If any place give me a day's happiness it is dear to me, and the where I find love is forever sacred. I like to stand where I stood thinking of it, and there I see that those dear moments are as much a part of me as of history. So while Therese and the marquis got off their horses for a little parley with the gardener, I cantered up the north trail to where I sat awhile that delightful summer day with Louise. The grotto had now a lattice roofing of bare branches. Leaves, as red as her blush, as golden as my memories, came rattling through it, falling with a faint rustle. The big woods were as a gloomy and deserted mansion, with the lonely cry of the wind above and a ghostly rustle within where had been love and song and laughter and all delight.

CHAPTER XIX.

D'ri and I left the chateau that afternoon, putting up in the red tavern at Morristown about dusk.

My companion rode away proudly, the medal dangling at his waistcoat lapel.

"Jerushy Jane!" said he, presently, as he pulled rein. "Ain't a-goin' t' hev thet floppin' there so—meks me feel luk a bird. Don't seem nohow nat'ral. Wha' d' ye s'pose he gin me thet air thing fer?"

He was putting it away carefully in his wallet.

"As a token of respect for your bravery," said I.

His laughter roared in the still woods, making my horse lift and snort a little. It was never an easy job to break an horse to D'ri's laughter.

"It's reedic'lous," said he, thoughtfully, in a moment.

"Why?"

"'Cause fer the reason why they don't no man deserve nuthin' fer doin' what he 'd orter," he answered, with a serious and determined look.

"You did well," said I, "and deserve anything you can get."

"Done my damdest!" said he. "But I did n't do nuthin' but git licked. Got shot an' tore an' slammed all over thet air deck, an' could n't do no harm t' nobody. Jes luk a boss tied 'n the stall, an' a lot o' men whalin' 'im, an' a lot more tryin' t' scare 'im t' death."

"Wha' d' ye s'pose thet air thing's made uv?" he inquired, after a little silence.

"Silver," said I.

"Pure silver?"

"Undoubtedly," was my answer.

"Judas Priest!" said he, taking out his wallet again, to look at the trophy. "Thet air mus' be wuth suthin,."

"More than a year's salary," said I.

He looked up at me with a sharp whistle of surprise.

"Ain' no great hand fer sech flummydiddles," said he, as he put the medal away.

"It's a badge of honor," said I. "It shows you 're a brave man."

"Got 'nough on 'em," said D'ri. "This 'ere rip 'n the forehead's 'bout all the badge I need."

"It's from the emperor—the great Napoleon," I said. "It 's a mark of his pleasure."

"Wall, by Judas Priest!" said D'ri, "I would n't jump over a stump or a stun wall t' please no emp'ror, an' I would n't cut off my leetle finger fer a hull bushel basket o' them air. I hain't a-fightin' fer no honor."

"What then?" said I.

His face turned very sober. He pursed his lips, and spat across the ditch; then gave his mouth a wipe, and glanced thoughtfully at the sky.

"Fer liberty," said he, with decision. "Same thing my father died fer."

Not to this day have I forgotten it, the answer of old D'ri, or the look of him as he spoke. I was only a reckless youth fighting for the love of peril and adventure, and with too little thought of the high purposes of my country. The causes of the war were familiar to me; that proclamation of Mr. Madison had been discussed freely in our home, and I had felt some share in the indignation of D'ri and my father. This feeling had not been allayed by the bloody scenes in which I had had a part. Now I began to feel the great passion of the people, and was put to shame for a moment.

"Liberty—that is a grand thing to fight for," said I, after a brief pause.

"Swap my blood any time fer thet air," said D'ri. "I can fight sassy, but not fer no king but God A'mighty. Don't pay t' git all tore up less it 's fer suthin' purty middlin' vallyble. My life ain't wuth much, but, ye see, I hain't nuthin' else."

We rode awhile in sober thought, hearing only a sough of the wind above and the rustling hoof-beat of our horses in the rich harvest of the autumn woods. We were walking slowly over a stretch of bare moss when, at a sharp turn, we came suddenly in sight of a huge bear that sat facing us. I drew my pistol as we pulled rein, firing quickly. The bear ran away into the brush as I fired another shot.

"He 's hit," said D'ri, leaping off and bidding me hold the bit. Then, with a long stride, he ran after the fleeing bear. I had been waiting near half an hour when D'ri came back slowly, with a downhearted look.

"'T ain' no use," said he. "Can't never git thet bear. He 's got a flesh-wound high up in his hin' quarters, an' he 's travellin' fast."

He took a fresh chew of tobacco and mounted his horse.

"Terrible pity!" he exclaimed, shaking his head with some trace of lingering sorrow. "Ray," said he, soberly, after a little silence, "when ye see a bear lookin' your way, ef ye want 'im, always shute at the end thet's toward ye."

There was no better bear-hunter in the north woods than D'ri, and to lose a bear was, for him, no light affliction.

"Can't never break a bear's neck by shutin' 'im in the hin' quarters," he remarked.

I made no answer.

"Might jest es well spit 'n 'is face," he added presently; "jest eggzac'ly."

This apt and forceful advice calmed a lingering sense of duty, and he rode on awhile in silence. The woods were glooming in the early dusk when he spoke again. Something revived his contempt of my education. He had been trailing after me, and suddenly I felt his knee.

"Tell ye this, Ray," said he, in a kindly tone. "Ef ye wan' t' git a bear, got t' mux 'im up a leetle for'ard—right up n' the neighborhood uv 'is fo'c's'le. Don't dew no good t' shute 'is hams. Might es well try t' choke 'im t' death by pinchin' 'is tail."

We were out in the open. Roofs and smoking chimneys were silhouetted on the sky, and, halfway up a hill, we could see the candle-lights of the red tavern. There, in the bar, before blazing logs in a great fireplace, for the evening had come chilly, a table was laid for us, and we sat down with hearty happiness to tankards of old ale and a smoking haunch. I have never drunk or eaten with a better relish. There were half a dozen or so sitting about the bar, and all ears were for news of the army and all hands for our help. If we asked for more potatoes or ale, half of them rose to proclaim it. Between pipes of Virginia tobacco, and old sledge, and songs of love and daring, we had a memorable night. When we went to our room, near 12 o'clock, I told D'ri of our dear friends, who, all day, had been much in my thought.

"Wus the letter writ by her?" he inquired.

"Not a doubt of it."

"Then it 's all right," said he. "A likely pair o' gals them air—no mistake."

"But I think they made me miss the bear," I answered.

"Ray," said D'ri, soberly, "when yer shutin' a bear, ef ye want 'im, don't never think o' nuthin' but the bear." Then, after a moment's pause, he added: "Won't never hev no luck killin' a bear ef ye don' quit dwellin' so on them air gals."

I thanked him, with a smile, and asked if he knew Eagle Island.

"Be'n all over it half a dozen times," said he. "'T ain' no more 'n 20 rod from the Yankee shore, thet air island ain't. We c'u'd paddle there in a day from our cove."

And that was the way we planned to go—by canoe from our landing—and wait for the hour at Paleyville, a Yankee village opposite the island. We would hire a team there, and convey the party by wagon to Leraysville.

We were off at daybreak, and going over the hills at a lively gallop. Crossing to Caraway pike, in the Cedar meadows, an hour later, we stampeded a lot of moose. One of them, a great bull, ran ahead of us, roaring with fright, his antlers rattling upon bush and bough, his black bell hanging to the fern-tops.

"Don' never wan' t' hev no argyment with one o' them air chaps 'less ye know purty nigh how 't 's comin' out," said D'ri. "Alwus want a gun es well es a purty middlin' ca-a-areful aim on your side. Then ye 're apt t' need a tree, tew, 'fore ye git through with it." After a moment's pause he added: "Got t' be a joemightyful stout tree, er he 'll shake ye out uv it luk a ripe apple."

"They always have the negative side of the question," I said. "Don't believe they 'd ever chase a man if he 'd let 'em alone."

"Yis, siree, they would," was D'ri's answer. "I 've hed 'em come right efter me 'fore ever I c'u'd lift a gun. Ye see, they 're jest es cur'us 'bout a man es a man is 'bout them. Ef they can't smell 'im they 're terrible cur'us. Jes' wan' t' see what 's inside uv 'im an' what kind uv a smellin' critter he is. Dunno es they wan' t' dew 'im any pertic'lar harm. Jes' wan' t' mux 'im over a leetle; but they dew it awful careless, an' he ain't never fit t' be seen no more."

He snickered faintly as he spoke.

"An' they don't nobody see much uv 'im efter thet, nuther," he added, with a smile.

"I 'member once a big bull tried t' find out the kind o' works I hed in me. 'T wa'n' no moose—jest a common or-d'nary three-year-ol' bull."

"Hurt you?" I queried.

"No; 't hurt 'im," said he, soberly. "Sp'ilt 'im, es ye might say. Could n't never bear the sight uv a man efter thet. Seem so he did n't think he wus fit t' be seen. Nobody c'u'd ever git 'n a mild o' th' poor cuss. Hed t' be shot."

"What happened?"

"Hed a stout club 'n my hand," said he. "Got holt uv 'is tail, an' begun a-whalin' uv 'im. Run 'im down a steep hill, an' passin' a tree, I tuk one side an' he t' other. We parted there fer the las' time."

He looked off at the sky a moment. Then came his inevitable addendum, which was: "I hed a dam sight more tail 'an he did, thet 's sartin."

About ten o'clock we came in sight of our old home. Then we hurried our horses, and came up to the door with a rush. A stranger met us there.

"Are you Capt. Bell?" said he, as I got off my horse.

I nodded.

"I am one of your father's tenants," he went on. "Ride over the ridge yonder about half a mile, and you will see his house." I looked at D'ri and he at me. He had grown pale suddenly, and I felt my own surprise turning into alarm.

"Are they well?" I queried.

"Very well, and looking for you," said he, smiling.

We were up in our saddle, dashing out of the yard in a jiffy. Beyond the ridge a wide mile of smooth country sloped to the river margin. Just off the road a great house lay long and low in fair acres. Its gables were red-roofed, its walls of graystone half hidden by lofty hedges of cedar. We stopped our horses, looking off to the distant woods on each side of us.

"Can't be," said D'ri, soberly, his eyes squinting in the sunlight.

"Wonder where they live?" I remarked.

"All looks mighty cur'us," said he. "'T ain' no way nat'ral."

"Let's go in there and ask," I suggested.

We turned in at the big gate and rode silently over a driveway of smooth gravel to the door. In a moment I heard my father's hearty hello, and then my mother came out in a better gown than ever I had seen her wear. I was out of the saddle and she in my arms before a word was spoken. My father, hardy old Yankee, scolded the stamping horse, while I knew well he was only upbraiding his own weakness.

"Come, Ray; come, Darius," said my mother, as she wiped her eyes; "I will show you the new house."

A man took the horses, and we all followed her into the splendid hall, while I was filled with wonder and a mighty longing for the old home.

CHAPTER XX.

It was a fine house—that in which I spent many happy years back in my young manhood. Not, indeed, so elegant and so large as this where I am now writing, but comfortable. To me, then, it had an atmosphere of romance and some look of grandeur. Well, in those days I had neither a sated eye, nor gout, nor judgment of good wine. It was I who gave it the name of Fairacres that day when, coming out of the war, we felt its peace and comfort for the first time, and, dumfounded with surprise, heard my mother tell the story of it.

"My grandfather," said she, "was the Chevalier Ramon Ducet de Trouville, a brave and gallant man who, for no good reason, disinherited my father. The property went to my uncle, the only other child of the chevalier, and he, as I have told you, wrote many kind letters to me, and sent each year a small gift of money. Well, he died before the war—it was in March—and, having no children, left half his fortune to me. You, Ramon, will remember that long before you went away to the war a stranger came to see me one day—a stout man, with white hair and dark eyes. Do you not remember? Well, I did not tell you then, because I was unable to believe, that he came to bring the good news. But he came again after you left us, and brought me money—a draft on account. For us it was a very large sum, indeed. You know we have always been so poor, and we knew that when the war was over there would be more and a-plenty coming. So, what were we to do? 'We will build a home,' said I; 'We will enjoy life as much as possible. We will surprise Ramon. When he returns from the war he shall see it, and be very happy.' The architect came with the builders, and, voila! the house is ready, and you are here, and after so long it is better than a fortune to see you. I thought you would never come."

She covered her face a moment, while my father rose abruptly and left the room. I kissed the dear hands that long since had given to heavy toil their beauty and shapeliness.

But enough of this, for, after all, it is neither here nor there. Quick and unexpected fortune came to many a pioneer, as it came to my mother, by inheritance, as one may see if he look only at the records of one court of claims—that of the British.

"Before long you may wish to marry," said my mother, as she looked up at me proudly, "and you will not be ashamed to bring your wife here."

I vowed, then and there, I should make my own fortune—I had Yankee enough in me for that—but, as will be seen, the wealth of heart and purse my mother had, helped in the shaping of my destiny. In spite of my feeling, I know it began quickly to hasten the life-currents that bore me on. And I say, in tender remembrance of those very dear to me, I had never a more delightful time than when I sat by the new fireside with all my clan—its number as yet undiminished—or went roistering in wood or field with the younger children.

The day came when D'ri and I were to meet the ladies. We started early that morning of the 12th. Long before daylight we were moving rapidly down-river in our canoes.

I remember seeing a light flash up and die away in the moonlit mist of the river soon after starting.

"The boogy light!" D'ri whispered. "There 't goes ag'in!"

I had heard the river folk tell often of this weird thing—one of the odd phenomena of the St. Lawrence.

"Comes alwus where folks hev been drownded," said D'ri. "Thet air 's what I 've hearn tell."

It was, indeed, the accepted theory of the fishermen, albeit many saw in the boogy light a warning to mark the place of forgotten murder, and bore away.

The sun came up in a clear sky, and soon, far and wide, its light was tossing in the ripple-tops. We could see them glowing miles away. We were both armed with saber and pistols, for that river was the very highway of adventure in those days of the war.

"Don' jes' like this kind uv a hoss," said D'ri. "Got t' keep whalin' 'im all the while, an' he 's apt t' slobber 'n rough goin'."

He looked thoughtfully at the sun a breath, and then trimmed his remark with these words: "Ain't eggzac'ly sure-footed, nuther."

"Don't require much feed, though," I suggested.

"No; ye hev t' dew all the eatin', but ye can alwus eat 'nough fer both."

[To Be Continued.]

A Good Answer.

"The late Mayor McLane," said a Baltimorean, "told me last year of an occurrence that had befallen a well-known railroad man.

"A humble employe of the road called on this man and asked for a pass to a certain distant point. The official said, with a severe air:

"'You have been working for us for some time, haven't you?'

"'Yes,' said the employe.

"'You have always been paid regularly?'

"'Yes, sir.'

"'Well, now, suppose you were working for a farmer. Would you have the nerve to ask this farmer to harness up his horses and drive you a long distance into the country?'

"'No,' said the employe, 'I wouldn't. But if the farmer had his horses already harnessed and was going my way, I'd call him a pretty mean fellow if he refused to give me a lift.'"—N. Y. Tribune.

Substitute for the Stick.

A story is told of the four-year-old Prince Knut, son of Prince Christian of Denmark. Recently a dispute arose between his nurse and himself, the cause of the dispute being whether he should or should not take a bath. The arguments terminated in a sponge being thrown in the nurse's face and the royal mama being sent for in hot haste. She decided that Knut was in the wrong, and sent him himself to fetch the cane with which she must beat him. He departed, and after some time he came back again. "I can't find the stick," he said politely, "but here are two stones that you can throw at me."—St. James Gazette.

Wrong Indeed!

"Really, now," said the diner to the waiter, "right down in your heart don't you believe this tipping system is all wrong."

"Indeed I do!" replied the waiter, with feeling; "that fellow at the next table to mine has made $2 to-day, and I've only made 20 cents."—Yonkers Statesman.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

Who Owns the Railroads?

H. T. Newcomb, of the District of Columbia Bar, has compiled statistics showing that 5,174,718 depositors in savings banks of six eastern states are directly interested in the joint ownership of $442,354,086 of steam railroad securities, that insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts hold $845,889,038 of steam railroad stocks and bonds, and 74 educational institutions depend on $47,468,327 invested in similar securities for a portion of their income. Other fiduciary institutions own enough railroad securities to bring such holdings up to more than a billion and a half dollars, about one-sixth of the entire capital invested in railroad property. These investments represent the savings of the masses, there being twenty million holders of life insurance policies in the country, as many more of fire insurance policies, and an even greater number of depositors in banking and trust institutions, where investments are largely in railroad securities.

A GREAT MEDICINE

BRINGS HEALTH TO THREE MEMBERS OF SAME FAMILY.

Cures a Wife's Debility After Malaria, a Husband's Rheumatism, a Daughter's Nervous Prostration.

"I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many people," said Mrs. Gossett, "because I have seen such good results, time after time, right in my own family. There are three of us who have no doubt about their merits. We do not need to take anybody's word on the subject for our own experience has taught us how well they deserve praise.

"It was just about ten years ago that I first read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and bought my first box. I was at that time all run down, weak, nervous and without ambition. I had been doctoring all summer for malaria and stomach trouble. Everybody thought I was going into consumption, as my mother had died of that disease.

"Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am now alive and hearty. I began to improve as soon as I began to take them, and when I had taken three boxes I was a well woman. Everyone wonders how I keep so well and am able to care for my home and six children without help. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills explain it.

"My oldest girl's health began to fail when she was about fourteen. She was nervous, complained of sharp pains in her head, would get deathly sick and have to leave the school room to get fresh air to revive her. I gave some pills to her. She took only a few boxes, but they cured her troubles, and caused her to develop into a perfect picture of health. Then my husband took them for rheumatism and found that they would cure that too. So you see we have all got great good from using them, and that is why we recommend them to others."

Mrs. Minnie B. Gossett lives at Uhrichsville, Tuscarawas Co., Ohio, and is well known, as she has resided in the same neighborhood for more than thirteen years. Her story shows that a medicine which makes the blood sound and the nerves strong, overcomes a variety of diseases and should be found in every household. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists everywhere. They have cured anaemia, and all forms of weakness, also the most stubborn cases of dyspepsia and rheumatism. They are indispensable for growing girls.

NOTED BY NATURALISTS.

The raccoon plunges all its food into water before eating it.

Granite is the only common rock which shows no traces of either animal or vegetable life.

Among fish, the sunfish, basking sharks and dolphins all swim with their eyes above the surface of the water.

African travelers say that the white rhinoceros frequently dies from eating poisonous plants, which are never eaten by the black one.

Tulips are so sensitive to the light that they will often close their petals during a dull day, and remain shut up until the sunlight returns.

Opals often fall from their settings because they expand with heat more than other precious stones, and, consequently, force open the gold which holds them in place.

Wet weather may be expected when swallows fly low, because then the insects which the swallows pursue in their flight are flying low to escape the moisture of the upper regions of the atmosphere.

CHILDREN AFFECTED

By Mother's Food and Drink.

Many babies have been launched into life with constitutions weakened by disease taken in with their mother's milk. Mothers cannot be too careful as to the food they use while nursing their babes. The experience of a Kansas City mother is a case in point:

"I was a great coffee drinker from a child, and thought I could not eat a meal without it. But I found at last it was doing me harm. For years I had been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes and pain in my heart, to which was added, two years ago, a chronic sour stomach. The baby was born 7 months ago, and almost from the beginning, it, too, suffered from sour stomach. She was taking it from me!

"In my distress I consulted a friend of more experience than mine, and she told me to quit coffee, that coffee did not make good milk, I have since ascertained that it really dries up the milk.

"So, I quit coffee, and tried tea and at last cocoa. But they did not agree with me. Then I turned to Postum Coffee with the happiest results. It proved to be the very thing I needed. It not only agreed perfectly with baby and myself, but it increased the flow of my milk. My husband then quit coffee and used Postum, quickly got well of the dyspepsia with which he had been troubled. I no longer suffer from the dizziness, mind spells, pain in my heart or sour stomach. Postum has cured them.

"Now we all drink Postum, from my husband to my seven-months'-old baby. It has proved to be the best hot drink we have ever used. We would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever drank." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

HOW TO GROW DEWBERRIES.

Method Which Simplifies the Clearing Away of the Old Vines So as to Give the New Growth a Chance.

The diagram shows a sketch of one plan of training the dewberry vine, writes an Indiana farmer to the Rural New Yorker. Fig. 1 represents the dewberry vines trained to a wire tightly drawn between two anchored posts at ends of row (B B), with central posts (C). This wire (A A) is put up in the spring, and the vines raised up and thrown over it, and tied, if necessary, leaving the ground bare beneath, where the sprouts for next year's crop can grow and be trained so as to be under the wire out of the way of cultivation. When the berries are all picked, loosen the wires (A A) at both ends, first cutting off the old vines, and by means of this wire, one man at each end, the old vines are pulled away from the new vines now spread out on the ground; then by straightening one end of this wire and pulling at the other end, you can easily pull the wire out from the old vines and leave them between the rows, where they can be easily forked into heaps and carried off the ground, leaving everything out of the way as seen in Fig. 2, the new vines ready for the winter mulch. If desired, the posts (B B) can be pulled up and set away in the dry, ready to drive down in the spring. The anchor wires (Y Y), which are anchored to a stone underground, must be attached to top of post, so it can be removed when you wish to take posts up. These guy wires would be the only thing left on the ground through the winter. In the spring drive down posts, stretch the wire (A A), and again train vines by lifting them over wire, and in this way one wire and the same posts can be used, and the best possible conditions had for cultivation, and for large, fine berries, at less expense than any method yet devised to my knowledge. No. 14 wire is plenty large for this training wire.

PROTEIN VALUE OF ALFALFA

Experiments Show That Latter Contains a Fraction Over Eighteen Per Cent. of the Former.

There is no food product grown on the farm which supplies protein at so low a cost as alfalfa. This, too, is obtained by enriching rather than depleting the soil, for alfalfa, like other legumes, is a nitrogen-gathering corp. Its deep-reaching roots, extending eight to twelve to forty feet below the surface, bring up fertilizing elements from the subsoil and place them where other crops may feed upon them.

Experiment shows that alfalfa contains a fraction over 18 per cent. of crude protein. Young alfalfa cut five months after seeding contained the lowest per cent. of protein and that cut after one-third of the blossoms had appeared contained the highest per cent. There is a very decided decline in protein from the time the first blossoms appear until the seeds form. There is much more profit in three early cuttings of alfalfa than in two over-ripe cuttings. The leaves are especially rich in protein and deficient in fiber, containing twice as much crude protein and one-fourth to one-half as much fiber as the stems.

Among the Fruit Trees.

The plum orchard should be found on every farm. Success is almost certain if the right variety is selected.

The man that would successfully fight insect pests must understand them, and one cannot understand them without studying about them. This takes time and effort.

Patronize none but reliable nurserymen. The orchardist can afford to pay high prices for fruit trees better than he can afford to waste his time caring for varieties that have no value in them when brought to the fruiting period.

Sunscald is one of the worst enemies of the damson plum tree, and where danger of sunscald is great the trunk and larger branches must be partly protected in some manner.

Borers are great destroyers of plum trees and constitute one of the greatest drawbacks to plum growing. The orchardist that expects to succeed must be on the lookout for these enemies, which, when found, must be hunted down.

Cultivating Sweet Potatoes.

For cultivating sweet potatoes, one needs a fine-tooth cultivator, one with 13 teeth, or a one-horse harrow and a sweep or winged shovel, writes an Illinois farmer in the Orange Judd Farmer. The cultivators should have lever adjustments, so that they can be opened or closed to suit the varying widths of the rows. Don't wait until the weeds have got a start before beginning to cultivate. The sooner the cultivator and sweep are started after planting the better for the crop. If possible, never allow a crust to form after a rain. A good plan is to run through once between the rows with the fine-tooth cultivator after every rain. The potatoes can be barred off with the fine-tooth cultivator in half the time it takes to do it with a turning plow.

PREFERRED BEING JAILED.

Concealed Burglar Surrendered When the Music Lessons Took Effect.

A burglar who entered a Harlem house suffered a unique form of punishment. It happened, says the New York Press, that the family he had come to rob were inconveniently early risers, and before he had half finished his work he heard a step on the stairs. Quickly gathering up his booty, he slipped behind the piano, intending to make good his escape as soon as opportunity offered.

But opportunity did not offer, for it appeared that the step he had heard was that of one of the daughters of the house, who had come down to the parlor for a couple of hours' practice before breakfast. When she had finished another daughter was standing ready to occupy the stool for another two hours.

Next followed the music lessons of each of the young ladies in turn. After these lessons were over their brother's violin teacher appeared, and, seating herself at the piano, began his accompaniment. But this was too much. The burglar rushed from his hiding place.

"For heaven's sake have me arrested," he implored. "At least there are no pianos in jail."

What Everybody Says.

Jamboree, Ky., April 3rd.—(Special)—"I suffered for years with my back," says Mr. J. M. Coleman, a well-known resident of this place. "Then I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have not felt a pain since. My little girl complained of her back. She used about one-half box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and she is sound and well."

It is thousands of statements like the above that show Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the one cure for Backache or any other symptom of deranged kidneys. For Backache is simply a sign that the Kidneys need help.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Backache. They also always cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary Troubles and Heart Disease. These are more advanced stages of kidney disease. Cure your Backache with Dodd's Kidney Pills and you need never fear them.

Errors of Modern Life.

Modern enjoyments, the modern way of living and working, overtax the nerves and they are sure to give way sooner or later—according to their resisting power—but invariably "sometime" the penalty will come, there is a limit to nerve endurance.

For Weakness or General Debility Pusheck's Kuro is unexcelled.

It creates appetite, stimulates the heart, purifies and enriches the blood and imparts vitality to every nerve and organ. Pusheck's Kuro prevents weakness from slight exertion, removes that tired, worn-out feeling, that nervous high tension, nervous headaches, nervous excitement. It restores vigor and health to all who suffer from any debility, overwork, great strain, general prostration, or even collapse. It produces strong, healthy nerves and also aids recovery after long spells of sickness. It is the greatest tonic and cure ever discovered. Do not wait until it is too late. Take Pusheck's Kuro in time and avoid opiates and liquors—these only make you worse. Pusheck's Kuro makes weak men strong and tired woman happy, restores the lost nerve force, causes the cheeks to glow and eyes to sparkle, and makes the step elastic. Nor is it a temporary improvement. It is a permanent cure.

If your druggist hasn't Pusheck's Kuro take nothing else, but mail $1 to Dr. Pusheck, 192 Washington St., Chicago, and Pusheck's Kuro will be sent by mail. Write at once for illustrated booklet, etc.

STOP! WOMEN,

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with woman's diseases covers a great many years.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month with my periods. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have ovarian and womb trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Sts., Benning P. O., Washington, D. C.

Second letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me.

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realize the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Streets, Benning P. O., Washington, D. C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Diamonds in Potter County.

The Potter Enterprise says: "While making excavations recently on his farm near Galeton for fire clay for brick, R. L. Clark, the well known politician, came onto a peculiar mineral substance, globular-shaped, and upon breaking it found a crystalized formation in the center which looks to him like a genuine diamond. He has had it examined by several experts, and he has found no one, who can see any difference between it and any other diamond. It may be that the Astors and Vanderbilts will be looking to Potter county instead of Africa, hereafter for their oranments. WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hyomei Cures this Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hyomei cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of the catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane, enters the blood with the oxygen and kills the germs present there, effectually driving this disease from the system.

It you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

offensive breath	huskiness of voice
dryness of the nose	discharge from nose
pain across the eyes	stoppage of the nose at night
pain in back of the head	aching of the body pain in front of the head	droppings in the throat tendency to take cold	mouth open while sleeping
burning pain in the throat	tickling back of the palate
hawking to clear the throat	formation of crusts in the nose pain in the chest	dryness of the throat in the morning
a cough	loss of strength
stitch in side	spasms of coughing
losing of flesh	cough short and hacking
variable appetite	cough worse nights and mornings
low spirited at times	loss of vital force
raising of frothy mucous	a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest expectorating yellow matter difficulty in breathing frequent sneezing

Hyomei will cure the disease, destroy activity of all germ life in the respiratory organs, enrich and purify the blood with additional ozone, and after a few days use of this treatment the majority of these symptoms will have disappeared. In a few weeks the cure will be complete.

Catarrh or catarrhal colds cannot exist when Hyomei is used. This is a strong statement, but L. Taggart emphasizes it by agreeing to refund your money if Hyomei does not cure.

Consecration and kill joy are not even on speaking terms.

A Serious Matter.

"The third dose of Thompson's Barosma made me feel like a different man. I suffered about a year with pain in back, side and groin. My hands, arms and side of face became numb; would wake up numb all over; have to get out of bed and go through gymnastic exercise to get sleep. I had decided to sell out my businesa but was cured by Thompson's Barosma. This was two years ago and I have been in perfect health ever since.—J. J. Borne, Titusville, Pa. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

A Little Girl's Trouble.

My little girl, five years old, was doctored for several months for bladder trouble but without success. She was very bad and caused us much anxiety. Finally we put aside the doctors' medicines and tried Thompson's Barosma or Kidney and Liver cure. Five or six bottles made a complete cure and she is now a sound, healthy girl. N. F. Woman's Ills

How rare a thing to find a woman who is perfectly healthy. Fully seventy per cent. of the sex suffers from ailments which often render life a burden. These afflictions cause nervousness, irritability, melancholia, hysteria, etc. They entirely unfit a woman for life's work and deprive her of most of its joys.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA
Herb Tea
WOMAN'S SAFE GUARD.

Those suffering with disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, etc., will find immediate relief from the use of Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea and in the majority of cases it will bring about a complete cure. It is a positive cure for chronic constipation, sick headache and indigestion. In case of nervousness and sleeplessness this tea will be found indeed a boon. It has a soothing and quieting effect on the nerves and invariably induces sound, refreshing sleep. A cupful at bed-time is all that is necessary to make a woman well and keep her well.

Mayesville, S. C., Dec. 8, 1902.
Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:
Two years ago I suffered with female complaint and used your Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea with great success. I have just begun taking it again and I feel much younger and stronger. If every woman sufferer could know the relief she would experience by using your Herb Tea she would never be without it. It is a most wonderful remedy and I take pleasure in recommending it to any lady who is suffering with female troubles. MISS C. L. CARPENTER.

GREAT Business Opportunities

The undersigned desires to dispose of some of his business establishments in Emporium, now doing a prosperous business. Not having time to devote the attentions I must sell.

I will dispose to the right party either my clothing stock and good-will, located next door to Bank, or my Merchant Tailoring store, near M. E. Church. With the latter I will sell the building, known as the old Masonic building, at a bargain. This is a good opportunity for a live business man, to engage in a well known and established trade.

A number of good lots for sale, located near my tailoring establishment, at low price. These lots are located in the centre of Emporium on Fourth Street, the Main business street.

We will talk business to only business men.
